

The invention relates to containers which can be placed within a shipping container. At least one wall (20, 21, 22, 23) of the container has ducts (32, 33) through which cooling (or heated) gas may pass.